"Do You See What Eye See?"

September 13, 7 PM

"Do You See What Eye See" is a collection/montage of freight car graffiti images accompanied by a sound track and musical score featuring two live musicians, virtuoso tuba and percussion.

This graffiti based material is a collaboration between 3 friends who played jazz together in high school, Lawrence Manning, Photographer, Randall Snyder, Composer, and Gerald Podraza Montage. Musicians performing live, tuba and percussion are faculty members in the Music Department, University of Wisconsin, Platteville.

and Elizabeth Kolbert will be read by local performers Pat Te Lynn Werner, Ronn Toebaas, Susan Barg, Mark Harman.

This event is co-led and co-sponsored by Carole Sullivan of Galena Center for the Arts and Steve Barg of the Jo Daviess Conservation Foundation.

The evening will also include a screening of the Spanish film (with English subtitles) "Las Calles Hablan" about street art in Barcelona, Spain.

A free event, donations gratefully accepted.

September 24, 7-9 PM Songwriter Showcase will feature River Glen

"His words and vocals are reminiscent of Brett Dennen, from idealism and social commentary to the balladeer crooning and w tonal range." -Julien's Journal

River Glen, a multi-instrumentalist and songwriter, was born in 1985 Four Mounds, an Indian burial ground, along the Mississippi River (a which he is named).

River's music is lyrically driven and blends elements of folk, pop, r and hip-hop. His songs are extremely honest, heartfelt, humi and inclusive.

Looking Ahead

The Galena Center for the Arts will open the new special exhibit Shades of Grey with a "black tie optional" opening reception from 5-8 PM on Saturday, Oct. 3. Shades of Grey will be an eclectic exhibit of a wide range of artworks ranging from whites to blacks including all shades of grey. The exhibit includes photography, needlework, oils and acrylics, basketry, drawings, sculpture and pottery among other media.

Shades of Grey will continue through November 29.

"Reclining Figure" acrylic on masonite by Jan Lavacek.

September/October: "Messipi Threads River Quilts"

The Messipi Threads River Quilts project will be exhibited in the hallway at the Center during September and October. This collection of small quilts reflects images from along the Mississippi River, created by 60 women who created them. A wonderful series of images.

Volunteering is Good for You and Fun too!
